

THE CANADIAN ENCYCLOPEDIA

Call to Canadian Contributors:

As The Canadian Encyclopedia launches an exciting new chapter in its 28-year history with a multi-faceted and eminently interactive new website, we're calling on Canadians to contribute articles and ideas on topics from history and politics to art and science and everything in between.

We are seeking authors and researchers on the leading edge of their fields to present the Canadian stories, people and ideas that matter most. If you're an expert on any aspect of Canadian history, society or culture, we invite you to propose new articles relevant to Canadians today. Redesigned and revised, the new Canadian Encyclopedia is continuously evolving in order to engage the next generation of readers.

We want to hear from experienced contributors who are passionate about creating an enduring cultural and historical legacy for all Canadians. Please write us at editorial@historicacanada.ca.

